Not illustrated. 1910 Excerpt: ...to the curious observer. Imported by Mr. Chaplin, who bought it in 1836 of a gentleman near Ley den,-in whose family it had remained from the time it was painted. Bought by Mr. Arteria for Edmund Higginson, Esq., of Salt Marsh Castle. Signed in the Imver centre: J. Steen. N ANTON VAN DYCK WOLFGANG, DUKE OF NIEUBOUBG Canvas, 53 J4 inches long by 86 inches high. (De Luxe Catalogue, No. 24) The subject of the picture is portrayed as a tall man dressed in the style of a Spanish grandee. The close political connections between Spain and the Netherlands at that period doubtless influenced the dress of the Dutch. He stands with the thumb of his right hand thrust through a part of the drapery of his doublet and the thumb of his left through the guard of his sword. He is dressed entirely in black and has a closely cut beard. He wears broad cuffs and a large white collar. Behind him to the left is a marble column and to the right some red drapery. A large dog, a Great Dane, brindle and white, is to the left. They both stand on a red carpet. Mentioned in Smiths Catalogue Raisonne, Part Hi., page 18, No. 51. A full length portrait of Wolfgang, Duke of Nieubourg. He is dressed in black. The right hand holds a ribbon, which is suspended around the neck; a large dog is standing by his side.... Done in lithography by Piloti. The picture here described in Smiths Catalogue is in the Munich Gallery, and differs somewhat from the picture in this collection in being not quite so large. PETER PAUL RUBENS Flemish School, 1577-1640. TWO APOSTLES Panel, 25 % inches high by 20 inches nide. (De Luxe Catalogue, No. 110) The two male heads, one facing us on the right of the composition, is bowed a little forward, slightly inclined to the left...
